

TIMOTHY SCOTT BOGART
Biography

In 1996, as Tim's first outing as an independent Writer/Executive Producer, Tim broke new ground in children's television, by developing a live-action, modern day version of the Kipling classic, "THE JUNGLE BOOK" for Fox Kid's Network. Serving as Creator, Executive Producer and Writer on all of the twenty-six episodes of the series, he also directed the one-hour season finale.

From there, Tim moved onto the Columbia/Tri-Star Series, "BORN FREE," where he wrote & directed nearly half of the first season's twenty-six episodes.

In 1999, Tim produced the feature film, "LOVE AND SEX" for Behaviour Worldwide, which premiered at the 2000 Sundance Film Festival before being released by Lions Gate. Written & directed by Valerie Breiman, the film starred Famke Janssen, Jon Favreau, David Schwimmer, Ann Magnuson and Noah Emmerich.

In 2001, Tim was one of the writers on Paramount Pictures' big budget action film, "EXTREME OPS," Directed by Christian Duguay and starring Rupert Graves, Rufus Sewell, and Devon Sawa. The film was released in 2002.

Also in 2002, Tim was the Writer/Executive Producer of the Two-Hour Event Movie for ABC, "THE EXTREME TEAM." The project starred Bai Ling and Eric Mabius.

In 2003, Tim adapted the Dimension Films release, "THE I INSIDE," starring Ryan Phillippe, Sara Polley, Piper Perabo, Robert Sean Leonard and Stephen Rea. The film was Executive Produced by Bob and Harvey Weinstein, and was based on the play by Michael Cooney.

In 2004, Tim developed the 6-Hour Mini-Series, "BORDERS," for FX, a look at the global AIDS pandemic as seen through the eyes of the Aid Agencies on the frontlines. Tim was Writer/Executive Producer of the project, alongside fellow Executive Producers, Arnold Rifkin with Bruce Willis' Cheyenne Enterprises and Tony To (BAND OF BROTHERS, FROM THE EARTH TO THE MOON).

Page two

2004 also saw Tim writing the sequel to DUMBO for DisneyToons Studios, as well as developing an original animated film for Disney Feature Animation, entitled, "THE MISSION."

2004 ended with Tim's feature film directorial debut, "TOUCHED," starring Emmy Nominee and Golden Globe Winner, Jenna Elfman.

The film also starred Samantha Mathis, Golden Globe Nominee, Diane Venora and Golden Globe Winner and Oscar Nominee, Bruce Davison. The film was chosen for the Prestigious Opening Night Film of the 2005 Boston Film Festival, as well as being chosen as a Premiere Screening at the 2005 Hollywood Film Festival.

For 2005, Tim wrote the FX Event Movie, "CHASING THE SLEEPER CELL," Executive Produced by Lowell Bergman and Dan Halsted, about the break up of the Lackawanna Terror Cell in Buffalo, New York.

In early 2006, Tim wrote the pilot, "CHASING GOLD," a dramatic series for The WB Network. He was to be the Creator as well as Executive Producer, alongside Gary Randall.

In late 2006, Tim's latest Pilot, "CONSPIRACY," a one-hour dramatic series for Lifetime Television, was produced for Fox TV Studios, with Tim serving as Creator and Executive Producer along with Gary Randall.

Tim is currently developing a new series, "FORT CASEY," for ABC/Touchstone Television. Tim is the Creator, as well as Executive Producer, along with Frank Spotnitz ("The X Files") and Warren Littlefield.

In the feature world, Tim is set to Direct his feature script, "THE YEAR OF WONDERS," for Bill Block's, QED Entertainment. The film is set to star Abigail Breslin, Academy Award Nominee from "Little Miss Sunshine."